About United Nations Day

United Nations Day, celebrated on October 24, marks the anniversary of the UN Charter coming into effect in 1945. The day promotes global unity, international cooperation, and awareness about the UN's work in advancing peace, human rights, and sustainable development. It commemorates the signing of the UN Charter by 51 countries on June 26, 1945, which came into effect after being ratified by the five permanent Security Council members. The day is observed worldwide with flag-hoisting ceremonies, cultural events, educational programs, and conferences, highlighting the importance of international cooperation in addressing global challenges.
